[EUROFILING 1970] REMINDER: Invitation for Greenfiling Initiative. December 9, UN Climate Change Conference, Madrid

Dear all

On December 9, all you are invited to the kick-off of the Greenfiling Initiative, December 9, UN Climate Change Conference, Madrid www.greenfiling.info

Green Open Filing Metric Ecosystem

- Green: About the climate and environment change footprint
- Open: Suitable for use in any Jurisdiction, neutral, transparent, free and at no cost
- Filing: Extensible reporting framework, for financial and non-financial entities, in line with regulatory reporting frameworks.
- Metric: Taxonomy of economic activities suitable for use with any current or future metrics (metrics-agnostic) oriented to structured data.
- Ecosystem: Towards a robust and internationally consistent climate and environment-related disclosure

Call for Volunteers

Goal: Create an extensible reporting taxonomy and basic framework, for financial and non-financial entities, on the climate change footprint, suitable for use in any Jurisdiction and with any metrics, in line with regulatory reporting frameworks. The framework will be metrics-agnostic, oriented to structured data, taking advantage of the lessons learnt in Banking and Insurance reporting taxonomies, supported by Data Point Model methodology and being Internet-ready (XHTML plus iXBRL).

Opportunity window: UN Climate Change Conference COP25 is to be held 2-13 December 2019 in Madrid (under the Presidency of Chile). This kick-off exercise would have a perfect natural hosting space the UN Climate Change Conference. The New European Commission, just starting on duty, has the climate change in the top priority. As a significant precedent, the kick-off meeting for the flagship Banking Taxonomy COREP (birthplace of DPM methodology) took place in Madrid 15 years ago.

As an organizer, do not hesitate to contact me for whatever topic
